SUN BEAMS

By WALTER M. BARRETT

By stocking their stores with an abundance of seasonal gift selections at prices than defy competition, local merchants this year are making a strong bid for your Christmas patronage. Practically all stores are remaining open evenings from now until Christmas, giving everyone a chance to view the fine selection of gifts being offered.

Three men were apprehended last week with illegal deer meat in their possession. Their guns were confiscated and each was fined $25, a light enough sentence, in our opinion. The arrest again pointed out the value of having a good warden in the district. We have always held that it is far better to prevent a crime or misdemeanor than to be forced to make arrests and our warden is certainly proving his worth in prevention but has also demonstrated that his willingness to make arrests when necessary.

A government report shows that California anglers spent $50,000,000 this year in pursuit of their pleasure. Which brings to mind the potential possibilities of the Truckee River, Lake Tahoe and the tributaries. We are inclined, unless reminded occasionally by such reports, to forget our greatest asset. For the entire commuinty to get behind a forceful fish conservation and rearing program would be one of the best moves we can think of.

The Truckee Fire Department by re-electing its entire staff of officers, evidenced better than we can state the regard in which the department is held. The department has done a good job during the past year.

We repeat an editorial from the Grass Valley Morning Union:

The incorporation issue is again to the fore in Truckee, where a movement to advance the eastend town to city proportions has made some progress. Backed by the Chamber of Commerce, the proponents of incorporation have instructed Attorney Ward Sheldon of Nevada City to draw the necessary petition to be presented to the Board of Supervisors, asking that an election to decide the issue be called.

The boundries of the Truckee Utility District, which has operated successfully for a number of years, would constitute the incorporation boundries.

Proponents of incorporation cite the fact that various fund divisions made by the state to incorporateed cities are lost to the people of Truckee under its present status.

SHOOTING CLIMAXES ROW ON SUMMIT

Local officers have been asked to apprehend Jack Hensley, 28, Norden who created considerable excitement in a summit establishment Saturday night by shooting himself in one arm while a man by the name of Scholl was attempting to take the gun from Hensley who was apparently intoxicated and threatening others in the room.

Hensley was brought to Truckee for treatment by Dr. Bernard and was told to report for additional medical care Sunday morning. Instead he boarded a train and went west.

State Patrolman A. C. Barrick, who was called to investigate, said Hensley was involved in a knife fight at Norden over a year ago.

The meat and three rifles were confiscated by Game Warden William LaMarr, who made the arrest.

The warden said he had been on the trail of the men for several days.

Christmas Tree Cutting Hit By Ranger In Talk Before Rotary Club

If Christmas trees in this region continue to be cut as they have in recent years it will be only a matter of 15 or 20 years until homes will be decorated with artificial trees. This was the substance of a discussion given by Forest Ranger H. I. Snider before the Truckee Rotary club at its meeting Monday. Snider called attention to the damage done in the forests by illegal cutting of trees.

Guest at the meeting was Mr. Corrigan, teacher and coach at the Tahoe high school.

EXPECT BIG CROWDS

Two New Resorts To Open To Public This Week

While winter sports fans anxiously scan the skies for the first worthwhile fall of snow, nearby and local resort managers are rushing last minute preparations on ski hills, ice rinks and accomodations for the expected largest number of enthusiasts to invade the High Sierra in history.

Washoe County May Purchase Tahoe Land For Use Of Public

RENO, Dec. 14.— Washoe County commissioners have been informed that negotiations are continuing for the purchase of the Tahoe lakeshore lands from George Whittell by the forests service.

J. B. Howell, business agent for Whittell, told the commissioners the forest service is negotating for Cascade Beach property and also for a beach south of Elks Point, together with a large amount of back lands.

The deal depends upon the appropration of funds by congress. Confidence was expressed the money will be forthcoming. Washoe county has considered the purchase of a stretch of beach land but the price of $124,000 asked by Whittell for Cascade Beach is considered more than the county can afford. Incline Beach used by Washoe County for several years as a recreation ground has been withdrawn by Whittell from public use.

HISTORY OF BIBLE IS TOLD LIONS BY TRUCKEE PASTOR

Although the literal text of the bible has been changed thousands of times during the many centuries it has been the guide of Christianity, the teachings of the original transcripts remains intact.

This was the salient point in the interesting talk made before the Truckee Lions Club at last night's meeting by Rev. G. J. E. Keetch, who traced the history of the present day Bible from its earliest source up through the centuries.

While the original transcripts by the Hebrew and Greek men of letters have long since been lost, the present Bible has embodied all the teachings and laws of the original transcripts as copied by later historians, the speaker said. The talk was illustrated by a chart and copies of various translations of the Bible.

Last Wednesday the Lions enjoyed an Italian dinner at Besio's Restaurant where 27 members gathered to set an attendance record for the year. The next meeting will feature the annual Christmas party of the club with A. P. Leitch as chairman on arrangements. This is usually one of the big events of the year for the Lions and a 100 per cent turnout is expected.

BANKER MUST TESTIFY ABOUT TAHOE BOATS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 14.— Herbert Fleishhacker, San Francisco banker must answer yes or no to a question of his ownership of five boats at Lake Tahoe when he appears before Refree in Bankruptcy Burton J. Wyman Friday or the matter will be placed in the hands of the United States attorney.

This was Wyman's decision when the banker declined to answer directly after his wife May, had testified that she was the owner. Fleishhackers hesitancy was ascribed to the fact copies of affidavits he had signed in 1936 were introduced and identified him as the legal owner of the boats.

While skies have been overcast and strong winds have prevailed, only a light snow and rain storm over the last weekend resulted. The ground here is bare while ony small patches of snow are reported on the higher levels.

Dam On Prosser Creek Possible As Report Made

Cost of Project Would Be Over $1,000,000 In Estimate

FLOOD CONTROL PLAN

Report Submitted To U. S. Reclamation By Engineer

The construction of an earthen dam on Prosser Creek near Truckee, at an estimated cost of between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000 is being considered by the federal reclamation bureau.

This is according to C. S. Hale, federal reclamation engineer at Reno.

Hale said that surveys are now under way by army engineers to determine the possibilities of such a project as a flood control measure.

The government man said that such a dam, although not as long as the recently completed Boca dam would be higher and would form a reservoir capable of storing 90,000 acre feet of water.

PATROL INCREASED TO FIGHT ILLEGAL TREE SLAUGHTERING

NEVADA CITY, Dec. 14.— Christmas tree patrol work on the Tahoe National Forest has been strengthened by the recent temporary appointment of Robert L. Tucker of Nevada City as assistant law enforcement officer.

CONSERVATION OF LOCAL FOREST IS TALKED AT MEET

Congressman Harry L. Englebright of Nevada County was one of the prominent men on the congressional committee which held a two-day hearing in San Francisco on forestry problems last week.

Witnesses strongly stressed the need for a program of reforestration and protection of the forest lands for water conservation. California, Nevada and Oregon speakers jointly opposed the transfer of the forest service from the department of agriculture to the department of the interior. The service was also highly commended.

M. L. Pratt, California state forester said that more money was needed to fight fires which wage every year during the dry season and asked that a law be passed which would give the state forest service power to seize tax delinquent lands and convert them into state forests.

Governor Morley Griswold spoke concerning the need of reforestration in the vicinity of Lake Tahoe and said that all cities in the Lake Tahoe are are dependent on the watershed for water supply and for irrigation purposes. The governor said private land in this region should be purchased to insure the whole region receiving benefit by any forest service projects.

TOMORROW

He was going to be all he wanted to be—
Tomorrow.
No one should be kinder or braver than he—
Tomorrow.
A friend who was troubled and weary, he knew—who'd be glad for a lift—and who needed it, too—on him he would call and see what he could do—
Tomorrow.
Each morning he stacked up the letters he'd write—
Tomorrow.
And thoughts of folks he'd fill with delight—
Tomorrow.
It was too bad, indeed, he was busy today, and hadn't the minute to stop on his way. "More time I will give to others," he'd say—
Tomorrow.
The greatest of workers this man would have been—

The world would have known him had he ever seen—....

But, in fact, he passed on, and he faded from view, and all that he left here when living was through was a mountain of things he intended to do—

DEADLY MAGIC

There is magic in phrases—and often it is dangerous magic. Caught by the rythm of words, the ordinary citizen is likely to endorse a slogan without any adeqaute understandin of what ite really means.

"Economic planning" is such a slogan. We have heard much of it in recent years. Men high in government have painted roseate pictures of what a properly 'planned society' could do for the people. What they haven't pointed out is that real "economic planning" is possible only under airtight dictatorship.

Speaking at the 42nd commencement exercises of Lincoln Memorial University, H. W. Prentis, Jr., had this to say: "Economic planners are the modern prototypes of the medicine men of our barbaric ancestors. . . .Economic planners believe that somewhere there actually exist individuals who have th capacity to plan the economic affairs of the whole nation. As a matter of fact, there is not enough information and ability available today to correlate the activities of any single industry, let alone the infinitely complex interests of the entire country. . . .Furthermore, if government once starts planning the economic affairs of our basic industries, the process will inevitably have to be extended to every phase of our economic life. . . .There would be no stopping short of the bitter end. As Stalin said in 1934: 'Without getting rid of capitalism and abandoning the system of private ownership in the means of production, you cannot create planned economy.'

"Planned economy means state socialism. Once state socialism becomes a reality, what becomes of the other two legs of the tripod of freedom—representative democracy and religious liberty? . . .The state could not tolerate the throwing of a monkey-wrench into any of its well-laid plans. Consequently, government would simply have to control every opinion forming agency; the radio, the press, the movies, the schools and church. In Germany, Russia and Italy you can see that program at work today."

A planned economy, in brief, demands the death of freedom—of all those liberties which we associate with the ideal of democracy. It demands totalitarianism, cold and ruthless. So the next time you hear that magic phrase, go to the root of it and see it for the enemy of freedom that it is.

Politically Speaking

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 14,—(UP)—Ideas are a dime a dozen on what will happen at the special session of the legislature in January. And few of the speculations are very favorable to Governor Olson.

It looks fairly certain now that the governor isn't going to call special elections in four senatorial districts where vacancies exist. Should four Republicans be elected for example the line up would be 14 Democrats and 26 Republicans. Even if four Democrats should win—most unlikely—he still would be behind 22 to 18.

Analyzing the 14 Democrats now in the upper house, Olson san only claim full support from about five—Shelley, Garrison, Quinn, Cunningham and Foley. The conservative Bourbon slate against Gison includes Deuel, Myhand and Holohan. In between and not too strong are Brown Hollister, Slater and McBride. Uncertain are Robert Kenny, the Los Angeles ex-judge who was slighted in supreme court selections by Olson, and Thomas F. Keating, whose district includes San Quentin and a lot of guards who don't appreciate Olson's attempt to oust the prison board.

There are a couple of Republicans, such as Fletcher and Jespersen, who might string along with Olson but the outlook is still gloomy for the chief executive.

Over in the assembly, the Democrats have a 44 to 36 margin but the 11 or 12 Democrats in the economy block may not only upset the governor's applecart but oust Speaker Paul Peek and the Bourbon leadership.

In fact, counting the economy bloc the Republicans can almost swing the necessary two-thirds majority to override the governor's veto.

That veto business brings up some interesting speculation from Jerry Seawell, president pro tem of the senate and veteran legislator from Roseville.

Seawell knows the governor will have a broad program of new tax measures, in addition to a relief appropration, reorganization of government and liberalized pensions. Much of this is opposed by the Republicans On this assumpion, Seawell points out that the legislature might convene, get the bills proposed by Olson, pass a relief appropriation before the deadline of February 1 and then recess for 10 to 30 days as permitted by law.

After studying the bills at home, the members would come back with their minds pretty well made up and pass the bills, probably in changed form. Olson would be confronted with the necessity of action in 10 days. If he signed, the Republicans would win. If he refused, a natural move, his opponents would attempt to override his veto.

The strategy of the recess is as follows. If bills are sent to the governor and the legislature is meeting or is recessed, he must act within ten days. But the normal procedure of discussing and passing the bills and then adjoupnment sine die, would give Olson 30 days to make up his mind.

The Olson program of new revenues is understood to have fallen on rather hand ground when Finance Director John R. Richards and a group of businessmen met at Del Monte recently. But out of the meeting came a plan for six businessmen to form a fact finding committee and go over data furnished by the various state departments on the state's financial condition.

It may not come to their attention but a move is being nurtured in administration circles to pick out some form of new tax and earmark it for liberalized pensions. Such might be the severance tax, subject of bitter opposition normally but which might conceivably be squeezed through if the proceeds went to the state's oldsters. The pressure from ham and eggers and other pension groups would be terrific if such a move was started.

Most legislators are sympathetic to more pension but explain their isn't enough money to pay current bills. It wouldn't be the first time a squeeze play was attempted in the capitol's history.

SKI CLUB MEETS TO DISCUSS NEW HILL AND MAKE PLANS

TAHOE CITY, Lake Tahoe Dec. 12 Fifty-two members of the Lake Tahoe Ski club gathered Friday night in the local community hall for a regular meeting presided over by President Floyd Carnell.

The main business of the meeting was discussion of improvements on the hill which is being put into good shape.

A letter was read from Supervisor Jack McFadden of this district in which he promised financial assistance for the winter sports advertising.

The club will again make concerted efforts to capture the cash award ed the sanctioned club which runs up the greatest mileage in attendance at the winter sports carnival at Sacramento next month.

The new rink at Tahoe is nearing completion as water was turned into the 100 foot square pond Sunday and was frozen Monday. After the addition of more water and construction of a small dam on one side, the rink will be inaugurated. Plans are being discussed to roof the rink so it may be used all winter. Addition of a barbecue pit is also planned and well as covered benches before the fire. The pump and hose purchased by the Women's club some time ago was used to flood the rink.

Special credit for the success of the rink goes to Jess Sisk who worked tirelessly to complete the project.

Carnell said donations to the club the past few weeks have reached a total of $150.

Following the meeting members enjoyed dancing and cards. Mrs. Carnell was hostess and served refreshement at a later hour.

Friday night the business meeting will be short to permit a card party to be followed by refreshments with Mrs. Goss as hostess.

STOLEN BAY AUTO FOUND WRECKED AFTER BOYS HELD

TAHOE CITY, Lake Tahoe Dec. 12 Patrolman F. E. Walker of Tahoe Wednesday confirmed his suspicions that the two youths, both of Oakland whom he arrested and took to Auburn the previous Sunday, had stolen a car from the bay region instead of hitch-hiking a ride as first told the officer.

Walker found the car after two days search on the bank of a small creek which runs near the Truckee-Brockway cutoff, against a tree.

The young vandals had evidently deliberately wrecked the car which was solen from James Simmons of Oakland, who has claimed the car.

Walker during his investigation discovered 11 Kings Beach homes of the backwood region had been broken into.

The boys refused to tell of any cache of goods except the one which held articles taken from the Rayburn home. Prosecution of the pair will be conducted at Auburn.

Truckee Lumberman's Paradise In Years Gone By History Reveals

Following is another in the series of articles dealing with the early history of Truckee as recorded by W. F. Edwards in his Tourist Guide and History of the Truckee Basin published in 1883.

In the logging camps in the woods last year they cut over 15,000,000 feet of lumber and this year they will cut 25,000,000 feet.

The lumber resources of the Truckee Basin are as yet beyond the power of estimation. The steady demands of the woodman's axe have as yet made no material inroad upon the mighty forest of pine and fir that first attracted the lumberman's attention. The author of this has been at considerable pains to ascertain as near as possible the amount of timer yet uncut and available, and the facts here given are the judgment of some of the best posted timbermen of the section.

In and about Lake Tahoe, careful estimates place the number of feet that are accessable at one billion; between the town of Truckee and Tahoe City there are at least five hundred million feet yet untouched that can easily be reached by the Truckee Lumber company. Each one of the numerous mills that line the banks of the Truckee river own tracts of timber land that will furnish logs for years to come.

From an article in the Truckee Republican of February 28, 1883, written by a careful observer and practical lumberman the following excerpt is made:

"We very often hear it stated that the Truckee timber is xehausted, and that new fields must be sought. This is a great mistake indeed. We will start at the state line and visit the country as we go west. The first stream is Bell Creek, with eight sections of land and one-half section cut. The next is Wallace creek where two flumes have been used for years and one has been built and used for 12 years . Although a short stream, three miles long, still half the timber stands. Wickes' creek in turn, brings us to one of the finest wood and water privileges in the mountains, with its four large branch es it drains and is an only outlet for twenty sections and only about two have been cut thus far, and the Bronco wood yard is always kept full. During the past 15 years 50,000 cord of wood have been handled here On the north side of Wilkes' creek is a tract of yellow pine that will cut 75,000,000 feet of the best lumber while on the head waters are the finest tamarack swamps in the Sierras. A mile further west brings us to Cuba, where the Gray creek comes in draining ten sections more of timberland which, so far, has not been touched. A little further to the south and west, four miles in Juniper creek, draining 15 sections with only three cut. Our next stream is Martis creek of which the east branch drains ten sections still in their native state.

"Two sections comprise the cut on the east middle branch and four sections stand in their natural state Returning to Truckee, we go up to Donner and the summit slopes where a great many acres of fine timber still stands. Climbing the north hill of Donner we enter a basin of six sections on Trout and Alder creeks Out next stream is the noted Prosser creek where only about one third of timber has yet been cut. On Sage Hen creek there has so far been cut about 4 sections of 20 on that creek We now come to the Little Truckee one of the most valuable and extensive regions of timber in the Sierras From Boca to Dog Valley, 10 miles north, is a fine strip of 20 sections from Ingram Station to Webber Lake including Sierra Valley divide, where timber can and must come to Truckee, are 100 sections. Elsewhere on the Little Truckee and branches there will be found the vast quantity of a thousand million feet, besides four million cords of wood. In the Truckee Valley nd divide between the Little Truckee and Sardine and Sierra Valleys another thousand million can be cut and run out at Boca.

"To take the Truckee Basin as a whole, there is at the present time not less than 5,000,000,000 feet of saw lumber remaining. This will afford 50,000,000 a year for 100 years These facts are arrived at by actual exploration and observation. There is not another region in the mountains where the facilities are as good and where timber can be brought to the railroad so easy. In fact Truckee is the lumberman's paradise."

STATE'S RELIEF LOAD 85 PER CENT HIGHER THAN LAST YEAR

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 14.— (UP)— The state's present relief load is 85 per cent greater than last year at this time, the state controller's office revealed today.

Latest available figures show a case load of 92,825 cases, representing approximately 374,800 persons, compared with 49,986 cases on SRA rolls a year ago in November.

The all time high case load was 95,944 cases in March this year, the controller's office said. The peak usually comes between the first of February and the middle of March J. M. Roberts, chief disbursing officer in charge of relief payments. explained.

Roberts said the state spent $3,300 000 for direct relief payments in November, not including administrative expenses.

The Man At The Keyhole

(BY OPERATIVE WB)

Backers of the Recall Olson Campaign, aided and abetted by the Ham and Eggers, claim they will have the required number of signatures within two weeks to force an election, And Senator Bob Kenney, Los Angeles liberal and former Olson leader is reported to be setting up a campaign organization preparatory to launching his candidacy against the governor. But the groups which put up the sinews of war for gubernatorial campaigns are very cold on this recall proposition. They don't like it—and they don't intend to give a thin dime to it.

One of California's two assemblywomen, Mrs. Jeanette Daley of San Diego—is now reported to be a possible choice of the anti-administration forces in the battle to unseat Paul Peek as speaker of the assembly. Strongest contender, however, is Assemblyman Gordon Garland of Woodlake. Both Mrs. Daley and Garland are on the governor's purge list.

Some of the old-line Democrats (George Creel for example) are reported to be flirting with the idea of getting aboard Lieutenant Governor Ellis E. Patterson's bandwagon for U. S. senator next year. Mr. Patterson has been considered a leftist and all that—but he has changed his stripes before, reason the old-liners. And besides, they don't want to miss the gravy-train! All of this monkey-business, however probably come under the heading of lost motion. For the old warrior, Hiram Johnson, is a fairly safe bet to cop both nominations—even if Mr. Patterson turns political handsprings.

STRANGE MEMBERSHIP CARD

THIS impressive looking document is presented to tourists making the 3,000 ft. climb to the Citadel of La Ferriere near Cap Haitien, Haiti—on the weekly 18-day Cruises to the Caribbean. It bears the signature of the President of Haiti, and the portrait of the Black King Henri Christophe, builder of the gigantic fortress. Entitling the passenger to membership in the "Societé du Roi Henri Christophe," it is his proof to friends back home that he came, saw and conquered the Citadel. Indeed the tourist and his ilk are the only ones who ever advanced on this mighty stronghold. This amazing structure which was built strong enough to withstand any attack, and large enough to house an army of ten thousand soldiers, was never called upon to withstand an assault. For, before his enemies had a chance to try their luck with the Citadel, the Black King killed himself with a golden bullet.

As will be seen from the above representation, Christophe, the only man to rule as king in the New World, was a most spectacular figure. He—an ex-slave—accumulated an immense fortune and spared no expense in costuming himself and his very large and heavily titled court. In fact his court was as elaborate, his palace as beautifully designed and richly furnished, as the leading ones in Europe.—EDNA MAE STARK
